REPUBLICANS HAVE ROCK ROLLERS

The rock-rollers at the republican county convention, who started their bombardment at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, continued their bombardment throughout the afternoon and did not take a breathing spell until nearly 5 o'clock when the convention adjourned in sorrow.

The rails had been greased by the silk-stockinged and white-collared contingent of convention packers and the sliding was easy, although it proved mighty treacherous at times. However, secret balloting kept the ring leaders well under cover, although, of course, their identity was known to all the stalwarts.

Of all the disgraceful tactics that were ever pursued in either a republican or democratic convention held in the history of Nevada, or southern Nevada, so far as that is concerned, the contingent headed by Homer Black, "Bill" Evans and others, is entitled to full credit. They failed to recognize the old party members—men and women who had fought for the success of the great principles embodied by the republicans in their national, state and county administrations—and the "Hun tank" was manipulated with such well directed energy and with such great perspicacity that good and loyal republicans were disgustingly eliminated from having a voice in the proceedings.

These white-colored rock-rollers, or at least a majority of them, had never heretofore been active in party proceedings. On the other hand they have never been known to have taken a financial interest in the success of the republican party, but on the other hand, as a rule, they have been obstructionists to party success. Few, if any, have ever contributed to the good of the cause to the extent of bringing about a republican victory at the polls, in the amount of a few paltry dollars, yet they would endeavor to wreck the party unless they are permitted to dictate the policies to be followed.

The stalwarts of many years—who they have financed campaign after campaign, devoting their energies to bringing about success—have been forced into the background. The new element is in control for the present, and they will have every opportunity to make good, but little help can they expect from those whom they so brazenly insulted. Having gathered together practically all their supporters, by using each and everyone to pack party mass meetings, it is hard to understand where they are to expect any support from the rank and file of the party—the voters who have so much to do in electing a ticket.

While it is true that the convention of yesterday has little to do with campaign management other than that the county central committee selected will serve as a guiding spirit during the campaigns that are to follow the fact stands glaringly forth that the great work now lying ahead of the two campaigns will naturally fall to the lot of the old stalwarts. The tried and true republicans of long years standing will select the candidates whom they think best fitted for.

MINER OF PIONEER ANSWERS LAST CALL

John Mullan, one of the old timers in the west, died Monday in Pioneer, where he had made his home for many years. Mullan owned the Alk-mare group of claims adjoining the Marflower mine at Pioche. He erected a hoisting plant and did considerable work on this group since he came to about 1919.

Mullan was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, in 1859. About 1888 he went to Park City, Utah, and went to work as a blacksmith at what afterward became the famous Daly West mine. He took stock in the company for pay and this stock later earned for him dividends at the rate of $700 a month.

SHAFT SINKING CAMP ROYSTON AGAIN STARTED

Incline Will Be Lowered An Additional Two Hundred Feet Without Interruption

(By Associated Press) Sinking of the main shaft of the property of the Hudson Mining company at Royston, was resumed on Monday morning by F. Tabarico and Joe Tolo, who has been awarded a contract for 200 feet, which will make the depth 620 feet when the undertaking has been completed. It is expected to make good headway in lowering the shaft and within 90 days the work should be completed.

The Hudson shaft is an incline, and at a depth of 320 feet a splendid one of an exceptional high value is now showing, while from driving a crosscut from the 420 level, one of a good grade was encountered, although development has not progressed to any great extent.

Two sinking of the Hudson shaft to help the 600-foot point is of great importance to the future of the Royston district. In the event that the persistence of the ore vein is proven then a new era will dawn for the camp, and the district will receive even greater favor among mining men and the investing public than it did a few months ago when considerable excitement manifested itself as a result of the finds on the Golden Eagle claim and other properties of that section.

During the past ten days two carloads of ore from the Golden Eagle claim operated under lease by Harry Cunningham, George Box and C. Y. Fox, have been sent out. The first was consigned to the Salt Lake smelter and consisted of a little over 40 tons, and from careful sampling it was determined that the product had a value averaging close to $225 a ton, which would make the shipment worth a little over $10,000, or $9000 net, after paying royalty. The second carload was sent to the Desert mill at Millers and consisted of nearly 50 tons that is expected to return values of close to $60 a ton, which would make the receipts from the two shipments worth nearly $13,000, or $11,700 net, after paying royalty. Transportation and other expenses will reduce the net earnings to around $10,000.

James Logan, O. K. Reed and the Macrell Brothers, leasing on the C. O. D. claim, are reported as having 40 tons of good grade ready to be sent out to either a local mill or some smelter. This ore was taken from a drift extended from the bottom of the 50-foot workings, and the drift has just picked up the junction of a north and south ledge with the result that a full face of ore is showing that is expected to mill around $60 a ton. Stopping is to be started, and when the ground has been worked to near surface it is proposed to sink a winze from the 50-foot level and follow the ore to any depth which it may be found extending.

Sale of Liquor on Ships Outside 3-Mile Limit Stirs Up Horner's Nest

(By Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, June 14.—A letter charging that the United States is "comparably the biggest bootlegger in the world," written by August A. Busch, president of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., while en route to Europe aboard the steamship George Washington, and which has been forwarded to President Harding, was made public here today, together with the accompanying letter by Adolphus Busch, III, his son. The third letter by the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., was addressed to members of congress, and requests investigation into the enforcement department of the government relating to the prohibition act. "I learn that passage of these ships (stepping board vessels) has been allowed with police money back guarantee that here for the sale of its intoxicating liquors will be thrown open as much as they pass the three-mile coast line," August Busch wrote.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 14.—Shipping board holds that "neither the Volstead act nor the 18th amendment can apply to American ships outside the three-mile limit," Chairman Lusk declared in a letter to Adolphus Busch, III, vice-president of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc. "The shipping board has permitted and will continue to permit the serving of liquor on its ships so long as foreign flag ships are allowed to enter and depart at ports exercising that privilege."

"I believe it to be thoroughly correct and that you are acting in the hope of creating a public revolt in opposition to prohibition so you may again revive the sale of your liquor, utterly regardless of how you might turn the American merchant marine in a vain effort to create a situation to the benefit of your brewery," the letter said.

POPULAR GOLDFIELD WOMAN CALLED HOME

A year of intense suffering was ended Monday morning for Mrs. E. V. Hatch, of Goldfield, when she passed away in Berkeley, Cal. Mrs. Hatch left Goldfield in August of last year to consult a specialist for cancer of the tongue, and since then her hundreds of friends among present and former residents of Goldfield learned from time to time of her gradual decline, which led to a hopeless condition many months ago. All the skill of San Francisco cancer specialists was used, but operations and the use of radium and the X-ray were unavailing.

Mrs. Hatch's maiden name was Lillian G. Riggs. She was born in New York City in 1858, and with her parents moved to central New York state when she was 7 years old. She was married to E. V. Hatch in 1884, and three years later, in 1887 they came west. In 1891 they settled in Deadwood, S. D., and there Mrs. Hatch taught school for 14 years, a work she loved and in which she was very successful. Mr. Hatch came to Goldfield in 1907 and his wife followed two years later.
